1	Everything went according to plan. However, I do not like how these team leaders don't recognize their team members. The team leader don't communicate to us of what needs to be done, and where the chairs and table should be placed at. I am talking about my resource team. The team leader only communicate to those whom she knows, which goes against the idea of being a leader. I am saying this because her not communicating to everyone makes it feel like we're being left out of the team. Therefore, I suggest that team leaders be chosen by those who can communicate well with everybody but not only those whom they know.	10/28/2015 12:10 PM
2	I like it when I met other students from my island that came from other colleges in Oahu.	10/28/2015 11:57 AM
3	Everything went perfectly as planned. Learned a lot from it, now I can apply this on my studies while I'm in school at the moment. Thanks to Vid and everyone that volunteered with us in making this event possible.	10/27/2015 8:22 PM
4	It was a great and successful event! Although, I think it is best for the next event that we split the students into groups for each sessions. Some of the sessions were pretty empty until halfway through their presentation while the others were very full. One session started on time while there were no students inside the room. However, overall it was a great experience for me and i sure hope that it was for our young generation. I give a big thumbs up for another one next year!	10/27/2015 2:14 PM
5	Thank you. It was a great experience and I would like to help more high school students to attend college after they graduate :)	10/27/2015 1:43 PM
6	The PIYED was such a fun yet inspiring activity. I recommend that we keep it going because to me, it is a way for us Pacific Islanders to know and remember that we have values and that we can show greater goods.	10/27/2015 1:28 PM
7	The day before event preparation took a lot of the volunteer's time. Some of them only had a couple hours of sleep before Saturday. And some they pulled an allnighter due to unfinished preparations. Despite the importance of navigating success of high schoolers, volunteers are also students too. If there is going to be a next youth event, have a reasonable timeframe for preparation. also, making sure that the volunteers have all the necessary information they need to prepare, so they can better assist with preparations and have time to rest before waking up early in the morning.	10/27/2015 12:51 PM
8	I was really happy to be a part of the Youth Empowerment Day because i learned a lot from it and not just that but also the honor of being a role model to the young ones as well as our community here on the Big Island motivate me to push harder in my studies and achieve bigger. And so i want to thank everyone who worked really hard for that day for it was a success! Thank you! :) P.S. I would really love for us to have another one next year if its possible.	10/27/2015 12:42 PM
9	I think the workshops were very helpful, and with the students having to choose for themselves which workshop to attend. Having them choose, gives them options to what the students are interested in or would like to sit in. I think having the option and choice to choose, is a step for them to think that there are many opportunities after high school in which they can partake in - e.g. college, military, working on campus job vs. working off campus. The resource fair was helpful and fun - students are engaging with different organizations on campus, in the community and even global.	10/27/2015 12:41 PM
10	i really enjoyed sharing my experience of my careerpath with students. However, there wasn't much time or opportunity for a more interactive session with students. There were many people on the panel and we were unable to touch upon most questions for the discussion. I would suggest that in the future, it might be more useful to have fewer on the panel and allow for a more interactive session to engage students more actively.	10/27/2015 12:23 PM
11	What a wonderful opportunity provided for PI students to prepare for their future.	10/27/2015 12:16 PM
12	Maybe have more activities for the high school students. For example ice breakers to dwell in and get comfortable with other students from other high schools as well as with the volunteers and staff.	10/27/2015 11:56 AM
13	High School students were very excited to have learned from our workshop!	10/27/2015 9:35 AM
14	Great community service for our kids and community. Will do it again!	10/27/2015 9:21 AM

Pacific Islander Youth Empowerment Day 2015 - Volunteers

15	Kudos to Vidalino, the PISC staff, the student volunteers, the sponsoring agencies, and community member volunteers who helped put this event together - just for the Pacific Islands youth in high schools. The energy of the volunteers was beyond measure considering the fact that most of them went without sleep the night before organizing and preparing everything for the event. I would have expected to see the volunteers slumbering around tiredly from lack of sleep, instead what I saw was evocation of high energy and infectious enthusiasm. A suggestion for improvement. At the end when the students were sticking their stars to the board and picking up their t-shirts, I would recommend that you do it by rows where each row stands up and in a single file they walk up and one-by-one stick their stars to the board and walk over to pick up their t-shirts and back in their seats. This will accomplish two things. First it energizes their solemn conviction of what they want to be by having everyone present witnessing each individual affixing his/her star to the board; and second, it provides order and organization for such a big crowd, and provide a smooth process for the t-shirts distribution. Overall I was very pleased and walked away from this year's even extremely satisfied and energized. It motivates me to do more for our youth. It allowed me to ponder over all the numerous accomplishments and contributions PISC has provided for community of Big Island and far reaches throughout the isles of Oceania in a short period of time. In a short four years, PISC has done for UHH what previous administrators had spent surmountable resources and time trying to tackle, and that is to recruit and educate Pacific Islanders at University of Hawaii at Hilo. Thank you for the opportunity to be part of something that will yield big dividends in the future.	10/27/2015 7:53 AM
16	Awesome experience.	10/27/2015 7:15 AM
17	The event went smoothly and as expected. However, some of the volunteers were really tired because of the preparations on the previous night. If it's possible to have the volunteers meet early and start preparing for the event it would serve to be a little less exhaustive. This doesn't mean that the preparations should be done on that same day the teams meet. Having the teams to meet early makes them work on what's needed, and instead of finishing everything at once, the teams can break down the work and prepare the stuff needed on a timely manner. I am only saying this so that we can all enjoy the day without being overly tired from the previous nights' preparations.	10/26/2015 9:42 PM
18	I think for Buster and the crew, it would be nice to have all of the singers sing into a microphone instead of just one of them. That way, we could hear all of their voices loud and clearly.	10/26/2015 4:57 PM
19	I feel our Pacific Islander keiki from Hilo High School were well represented!! Next year I hope to see even more of our ELL students there. :) Today I asked my students what they thought about attending this past Saturday's Pacific Islanders Youth Empowerment Day, and I received all positive words. One keiki stated he has already attended 2 and he will go again next year!! That to me speaks volumes. :) Another students said she was impressed with the speakers, for they spoke about the mistakes they made growing up, yet that did not define who they were or stop them from attaining their dreams. Each one of those speakers turned things around to make things work for them, and they were all able to attend higher education and make their way to a better life. Most inspirational!!	10/26/2015 3:15 PM
20	GREAT DAY!!!!!!!!!!!!!!	10/26/2015 9:58 AM
21	As a new transfer student from the islands, the event had a profound impact on myself and how I viewed islanders in the states. Before taking part in the event, I always thought that the islanders in the states were so much better off than people back on the islands, and so I honestly developed animosity towards them. However, this event has opened my eyes, I now know that islanders in the states are just like those back home, trying to make a better life for themselves with what is available to them. The event has given me new found motivation to accomplish my goals and complete my education. I am most thankful for the opportunity to participate.	10/26/2015 9:47 AM
22	This is my first participation and I loved the energy of the different volunteers. Overall it was an AWESOME experience...	10/26/2015 9:42 AM
23	I thought it was a wonderful event. We had a flip chart where students could provide their answers to the question, "What can you do yourself to reduce or reverse Global Warming?" They all seemed to be happy to give it a try. We got a lot of very good answers. Their answers were great with a lot of innovation and an awareness of the need to do something. They were often stumped when they could see what others had written down, so I kept turning the page so that they faced a blank page when their turn came up. That made it easier to answer the question with their first thought. Often there were multiple answers that were the same which will provide data to show us what they know and what they didn't know about Global Warming. I was proud of their participation. I guess it is a bit more difficult to answer than you might think, especially if you limit yourself to what you can personally do. So some of the answers are more about what "WE" can do together, which is a double "Win/Win" because coming together to solve a problem is a great way to get things done that we cannot do for ourselves by ourselves. Working together we can do much more.	10/26/2015 9:37 AM
24	I attended the conference as a support to my fellow resource teacher in the DOE. Nerie Padamada talked to me about what it was about and its purpose. It piqued my interest. I am glad I attended the morning sessions. I now have a better understanding of the work you are all doing and can see where my work as a Health and Physical Education Resource Teacher can assist Nerie and the East Hawaii community. I am glad I attended.	10/26/2015 9:17 AM

26	Very unorganized. Group leader did not show confidence in leading the group. Confused on what to do half the time. set up and preparations Friday night was a waste of my time. workshops was helpful and informative though. But overall people were just standing or sitting around doing nothing. Recommend making final preparations a week before actual event and not wait till the night before. Print all material needed and distribute shirts and name tags at least two days prior to the event. Breakfast was okay thank you Kosrae but lunch was a joke. We could have had better. But better than last year where we had none.	10/26/2015 12:17 AM
27	I would like to recommend to have more equipment for the music team such as, bigger speakers, mixers, more microphones, wider stage and piano stand. But other than that, we have all the stuff we needed for that day. Thanks.	10/25/2015 11:24 PM
28	I recommend that schedules are made for the students. This year was the first time we gave them the opportunity to choose which workshop to attend. I saw most students attend workshops with their friends although we encouraged that they meet new friends. Also, I'd encourage that the volunteers become the boarder of students. I caught some students leaving after the opening remarks. Luckily, I kindly asked that they return to their workshops. Volunteers need to be active and live throughout the entire time.	10/25/2015 10:08 PM
29	I have enjoyed helping out and being with the young high school kids. Its was a privileged to be part of the PIYED.	10/25/2015 9:01 PM
30	This year was less hectic and smoother, than previous years. Keeping it all on the plaza and in the upstairs rooms worked very well and only 1-2 HS students wandered off to be immediately encouraged to return by alert volunteers. The panels I was able to observe were thoughtful, helpful and inspiring, and the HS students were alert with good questions. There was plenty of information transfer, and a lot of energy. I'm continually amazed at how effective the student volunteers were in running the show, and displaying their leadership skills as role models. It makes me rethink some earlier (not PIYED / Navigation success) panels done before the AANAPISI grants, where faculty did the work, and involved students as actors, not as program deliverers. They were great role models as were the MU-BI folks and other panelists	10/25/2015 8:05 PM
31	Thank you for an awesome experience! I look forward to volunteering in future UHH events.	10/25/2015 7:10 PM
32	I had an excellent day yesterday. The youth empowerment day was fun and most of all I got to spend it with people from my own kind " Oceania". People who were strangers became friends. I liked every single thing about the youth empowerment day.	10/25/2015 6:28 PM
33	It was a great opportunity to be able to work with different people. I enjoyed it !	10/25/2015 6:26 PM
